

Biography:

Peter Snelling

Dr Peter Snelling is a general paediatrician, emergency physician, and sonologist who is passionate about exploring how point-of-care ultrasound can improve the patient journey and is the founder of the SONography iNnovation And Research (SONAR) group (<https://sonar.org.au>). He is a PhD candidate through Griffith University, with the topic of ultrasound for paediatric distal forearm injuries. In his spare time he enjoys caravanning in the Australian outback with his wife and 5 kids

